County picks up burial tab for ex-con killed on I-10

BY DENA BISNETTE and D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to pay burial costs for Randy Leitson, 41, a convicted robber killed in a car crash while fleeing a Mississippi state trooper on Interstate 10.

The county can pay for pauper's graves under a state law, so the request for proper disposal of Leitson's body was not a cause for discussion at Tuesday's board meeting. The price, however, was.

Under a policy set by a previous administration, the board has been paying local funeral homes $250 to bury people determined to be indigent, who have families unable to pay for their burial or, as in Leitson's case, whose bodies are not claimed by a friend or family member.

However, Board Attorney Gerald Gex told the board that County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet had recommended cremation rather than burial for Leitson's remains, due to a medical problem which was not specified.

The board approved payment of between $700 and $750 for the cremation, with Board President Ronald Cuevas stating,

"We have no choice."

Leitson, who had been released from an Ohio prison in June, died Oct. 21 when the car he was driving slammed into a tanker truck on the interstate while traveling at an estimated 90 miles per hour.

He was wanted for questioning in connection with the robbery of a D'Iberville man at knife point.

Leitson's identity was determined by tracking a stolen credit card found in his possession.

The car in which he died had been rented in Redwood, Calif. with a stolen credit card. The car was reported stolen when he failed to return it.

Stennis Combined Agencies Campaign reaches mid-point of United Way Drive

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center's 5,556-member workforce is making a difference in the lives of needy and disadvantaged people in the local communities and on a worldwide basis through its continued support of United Way.

This year, Stennis is working toward giving its largest sum yet, at least $154,500 to charity through its Combined Agencies Campaign.

Over the past decade, Stennis employees have contributed more than $1.5 million to area-wide charities.

The fundraising effort began last month and is scheduled to end in mid November. Stennis Director Roy Estess, who strongly supports the works of United Way, is chairman of this year's annual charity drive at the space center.

"Through United Way, we're able to support programs such as those which teach illiterate people how to read and disabled people how to walk, and to fund medical research to help find cures for the devastating diseases of cancer and AIDS."

He added, "It would be virtually impossible for any one of us on our own accord to make a dent in giving shelter to our nation's homeless. But, our contributions to United Way are channeled through literally thousands of programs, including the national health and service agencies dedicated to such missions of mercy as these."

Since NASA moved into the South Mississippi community more than 25 years ago, the center's staff has placed a priority on giving to the charity drive since it directly benefits the local communities on the Mississippi Gulf Coast as well as St. Tammany Parish and the Greater New Orleans areas in Louisiana.

Monday is deadline for absentee ballots

BY DENA BISNETTE

The deadline for absentee ballots for the Nov. 7 election is 5 p.m. Monday.

As of Wednesday afternoon, 31 absentee ballots have been returned, according to a member of the staff in the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's office. That number includes both the ballots cast in the office and those returned by mail.

About 140 absentee ballots were mailed out a week ago, just a few days after the qualifying deadline for the District 46 State Senate race.

The circuit clerk's office was open Saturday, but no absentee votes were reported. In addition, the office will be open this Saturday from 8 a.m. until noon to accept absentee ballots.

In comparison, about 8,500 out of the 21,766 registered voters participated in the Oct. 17 election; about 150 of those voted absentee. About 80 percent of the absentee ballots which were mailed for that special election run-off, which included only the Fifth District congressional race, were returned.

Under current procedures for special elections, absentee voting can begin up to 30 days prior to the election, according to Hancock County Election Commission Secretary Betsy Nolan.

However, no voting can begin until the qualifying period ends and the names are on the printed ballots.

The election for the state senate seat vacated by Gene Taylor on Oct. 18 after his election to congress was a late addition to the Nov. 7 ballot.

Already scheduled were elections to replace an East District constable who had resigned for health reasons; to replace an election commissioner who had died; and to replace former District Attorney Glenn Cannon.

Section 23-15-851 of the Mississippi Code contains a provision requiring only 20 days' notice of special elections to fill legislative vacancies.

Under section 23-15-359, the qualifying petitions for a special legislative election, which require signature by 50 qualified electors, have a submission deadline of only 10 working days prior to the election.

Re-addressing project continuing in county

BY DENA BISNETTE

A little leftover work related to the Enhanced 911 project will be completed soon.

Hancock County Tax Collector and Assessor Edward Murtagh reported to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday that field personnel should finish re-addressing in Pearlinton later this week.

Other areas left to be completed include part of Ansley, BaySide Park and some renumbered areas on Highway 90.

Murtagh's office was among the first in the county to become involved in the Enhanced 911 project, which was officially dedicated for use at the beginning of October.

The tax office has coordinated efforts with the board of supervisors to name or number all roads in the county and to number all structures, leaving room for new structures to be added to the numbering system.

Murtagh's field personnel are verifying the addresses and notifying the residents of new addresses of each section as parts of the project are completed.

The Enhanced 911 program differs from the old 911 program in that it covers the entire county and provides both a com-

ON PATROL

ARMED ROBBERY

A Bay St. Louis man has been arrested and charged with armed robbery by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. William Neil Hampton, 26, Rt 6, Box 788K, was arrested Monday and charged with two counts of armed robbery, according to Chief Deputy Delbert Seay.

Both robberies allegedly were committed against the same individual, a former girlfriend from whom Hampton had separated six months earlier, according to Seay.

The first robbery allegedly occurred Friday at BaySide Apartments when Hampton jumped into the victim's truck while she was driving slowly, taking her wallet and several rings, Seay said.

The day of his arrest, Hampton allegedly kicked in the rear door to the victim's Springwood Park home and took several items, according to Seay.

Hampton allegedly used a shiny revolver in both robberies. The victim attempted to fight Hampton during the first incident and required medical treatment for severe bruises and sprains, according to Seay.

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

Forest management provides healthy, productive forests.

In spite of population pressure and the rapid urbanization of the past quarter-century, the growing stock in our nation's forest has grown from about 603 billion cubic feet to about 830 billion cubic feet today.

The result is a renewable resource capable of furnishing an important raw material not only for our rising domestic use, but for expanding global demand as well. Mississippi has an important role to play in this expanding wood market.

With the application of modern forest management techniques, the productivity of our forests is among the nation and the world's best.

Largely as a result of careful resource management in our state and others, the U.S. has built 46 million new housing units and produced 1.7 billion tons of paper and paperboard—7.2 tons apiece for every man, woman and child in the country today—in the past 25 years.

Today the use of wood products extends far beyond home construction and paper. Wood flour and melamine resins using cellulose filler are principal components of dinnerware, telephone housings, radio and TV cabinets.

Torula yeast, a high-protein product made from wood sugars spent in the pulping process, is used for baby foods, cereals, baked goods, and dietary preparations.

Ethyl cellulose is used in products as diverse as sausage casings and photographic film. Rayon, a natural fiber increasingly used in the garment industry, is a forest by-product.

Given this rise in demand for both the traditional uses of wood and futuristic applications of wood fiber, it's surprising that the nation as a whole is harvesting about the same volume today as it did at the turn of the century.

It's all the more surprising since per capita consumption has risen 800 percent and the production of lumber and other wood products has climbed 70 percent during the same period.

We have been able to satisfy the rising demand and still maintain our forest productivity level because our landowners and foresters are committed to good stewardship of the land.

Use of genetically-improved seedlings—the so called "super-tree" and improved methods for controlling nature's predators, such as wildfire, insects and diseases, have helped us conserve more of the forest for a variety of uses, from products to recreation. That way, modern forest management gives us better use of our forest land.

In addition, forest products industries today are using trees and wood far more effectively than was ever thought possible. Logging residues, tree-tops, limbs, and salvageable dead trees that were formerly discarded as waste are now used productively in the modern manufacturing process.

Our commercial forest land in Mississippi now totals about 17 million acres. Most of these acres are owned by our 130,000 private, non-industrial landowners.

We have come a long way since the "cut-out and get-out" era earlier in this century when logs were dirt cheap and tax laws discouraged tree-growing.

Today, forestry ranks as the number two industry in terms of value of products at the first processing point. Good forest resource management should continue to provide healthy, productive forest for Mississippi, bolstering our economy while providing an environment that is the envy of many other states.

Are you a timberland owner? Can you use some help with the care of your forest acreage? As your county forester, I am ready to lend you a professional hand. Give me a call.

Funding available for firefighting equipment

The Mississippi Forestry Commission expects to have approximately $50,000 in federal funds available for fiscal year 1990 for small matching grants to rural communities to assist them in obtaining needed firefighting equipment, according to an announcement this week by State Forester Robert S. "Sid" Moss.

The grants will be issued under the rural Community

Fire Protection Program (RCFP) as authorized under PL 95-113. Grants to approved applicants are limited to a maximum of $2,000 per community.

"Communities or fire departments interested in securing one of the RCFP grants would be well advised to take prompt action in this regard," says Curt Fulgham, fire control forester for the commission.

Rural communities of under 10,000 population are eligible for the funds. In the event the expected federal funds are not received by the Forestry Commission all applicants will be notified as soon as possible.

Application forms may be secured from Curt Fulgham, Suite 300, 301 Building, Jackson, MS 39201. Completed applications must be returned by 5 p.m. Jan. 16.

Forestry Field Day held today

A South Mississippi Forestry Field Day will be held Nov. 2 at 8 a.m. at the Harrison Experimental Forest on Mississippi Hwy. 67 North of Biloxi, seven miles east of Saucier.

The field day will acquaint people with the economic, conservation, environmental and wildlife benefits of forestry in South Mississippi.

Tour stops will include timber fertilization study, borate wood test, long leaf genetics plantings, termite test and brown spot test.

The event is sponsored by United State Forest Service. Co-sponsors are the Mississippi Forestry Commission, International Paper Company, Soil Conservation Service, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and the 11 Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Southeast Mississippi.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The big topic of conversation on Wednesday was Halloween and the number of persons out trick-or-treating. I walked down deMontluzin and Main streets and was surprised at the number of persons in costume. Speaking to residents of other areas where trick-or-treating is popular, I also received reports of many 'ghosts and goblins.'

Traffic was heavy all around, and everyone seemed to have had a good time. There appeared to have been more 'haunts' about the area, too.

Mike Favre was having a great time on Main Street with a chainsaw. He had the youngsters, as well as others, fleeing.

'Big John' Rutherford was dishing out treats so fast he had to be re-supplied. John appeared to have been having as great a time as the trick-or-treaters.

The Loiacano, Stiglet, Boyd and other 'haunting displays' all were great.

Thanks to all who made Halloween a good time for our youngsters.

Wednesday was All Saints Day and is very special for many area residents.

The Cedar Rest Cemetery appeared to have looked the best I have seen it in years.

The city crew did a fine job in preparation for All Saints Day in cutting the grass and removing the debris.

Many of the floral displays on the family plots were very nice.

This is the final week for regular season high school football games.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will journey to play Harrison Central.

Hancock will be trying to end the regular season play with only one loss the season and will have their hands full with Harrison Central. The Red Rebels have a much higher registration than the Hawks.

Last week the Hawks were a little surprised by a scrappy Bay High Tiger squad, and Hancock will have to have a good all-around effort in order to defeat Harrison.

Bay High's Tigers will be closing this season by traveling to Pass Christian.

The Pirates have been improving in recent weeks, but the Tigers, with play like last week, could trip Pass Christian.

A Bay High victory could do wonders for the young Tigers for next season.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will play host to St. Paul's of Covington, La.

This will be the only home game in the county this Friday and it should be a good game.

The Rocks need to get their scoring machine in business so they can end the season with a winning season of 6-4.

Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m. and your local teams need your support in the stands.

We hope to see you at the game.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Listen carefully to statistics

Every day there seems to be trotted out a new series of statistics regarding the state's and country's economic health. Although they make good headlines and are a good source for political rhetoric, they can easily be misused.

Take per capita income in 1987, for example. According to the Mississippi Center for Policy and Planning, Mississippi's per capita income in 1987 increased 6.3 percent, while the nation's per capita income increased only 5.99 percent.

From an optimistic standpoint, we may be led to believe that Mississippi's per capita income in 1987 was higher than many in the nation. However, when we closely examine the raw figures, we find out, rather harshly, that is simply untrue. In fact, we learn Mississippi's per capita income of $10,302 was a sobering $5,179 below the nation's per capita income of $15,481.

Of course, not noting that Mississippi's per capita income did indeed increase would be just as irresponsible. Statistics usually can be made to say anything. Whenever they are being used, remember, too, they are also likely being misused.

Huff appointed FMHA director

Senators Thad Cochran and Trent Lott, announced today that the U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary has appointed James Benton Huff, Sr., of Jones County, to the position of State Director for the Farmers Home Administration in Mississippi.

"He's one of the best qualified state directors we have ever had," Cochran said.

Senators Cochran and Lott recommended Huff to Secretary Clayton Yeutter for the post. As state director, Huff will be in charge of all the USDA's family farm, rural housing, and community development loan programs. He will manage a staff of 500 in 11 district offices, 81 county offices, and the administrative headquarters in Jackson.

A native of Taylorsville, Huff owns and operates a 600-acre cattle and tree farm in Jones County. Huff retired in May as director of operations at the Masonite Corporation in Laurel, Mississippi, holding a series of management positions there since 1957.

North needs to receive hard-earned military retirement

Again, there is a movement on Capitol Hill to restore Oliver North's pension. Again, I am supporting it.

As a result of one of his convictions, Lieutenant North has been stripped of his Marine Corps pension; a retirement he has earned. In light of his many years of outstanding service, as a Marine, this punishment is excessive and unjust.

If he made mistakes, and a jury of his peers has concluded that he did, he should be punished for them. But to go back and retroactively take his pension away, I think, is extremely unfair. And I have spoken on the Senate floor to voice that position.

It is not a well-known fact, but convicted drug dealers, who are not in jail, are allowed to keep certain government benefits like Social Security, disability, health and veterans benefits. They are also permitted to keep any retirement funds they have accrued.

I personally don't think it fair that we cut off Col. North's pension and, at the same time, allow convicted drug dealers to keep theirs.

One of the criminal acts North was found guilty of was destroying federal documents. Title 18, Section 207(b) of the United States Code says that any federal officer who destroys, mutilates, or falsifies federal documents shall be subjected to fine and imprisonment, "and shall forfeit his office and be disqualified from holding any office under the United States." The pension of a retired Marine officer has been deemed to be an "office" which is forfeited on conviction.

The policy, in principle, is a wise one. Federal employees must be deterred from destroying or falsifying official information. However, Col. North has testified under oath that he believed that what he did was legally authorized.

Whether North's assumption was correct or incorrect is a question best left to legal scholars. In the meantime, Col. North and his family are suffering a severe financial loss. In all likelihood, this law was never intended to punish individual federal officers, in this case a Marine, caught in struggles between Congress and their superiors over the direction of American foreign policy.

The jury in North's case evidently believed that he was following orders because on most of the charges, he was found innocent. The lenient sentence that the judge imposed suggests that he agreed with the jury.

However, neither judge nor jury was allowed to show leniency in the case of North's pension.

Congress can pass a special act to restore the pension, notwithstanding any other federal law to the contrary. And I hope it will. Not just for North, but for any federal officer who is justly entitled to his earned savings.

Oliver North served his country admirably, on the battlefield and in public office. By stripping his pension, America is reneging on its obligation. In uniform and on battlefields under enemy fire, Col. North earned his military pension. He should receive it.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Funding plan for educational reform may be as flimsy as tissue

No matter that Gov. Ray Mabus' no-tax-hike funding plan for his newly-unveiled $500 million education package may be as flimsy as tissue paper, Mabus has put the ball for education reform in the Legislature's court.

What Mabus has done is to strategically focus the debate on "how" to fund the new round of education reforms, not "if" the program is going to be funded.

One lawmaker called it the reverse of last session's struggle over closing the three state charity hospitals. Then, the Legislature dumped the issue into Mabus' lap.

Now it's the Legislature which will be saddled with the blame if any big pieces are cut from the program, such as the $85 million-plus teacher pay raises, or if in the end taxes have to be raised to finance the education reform package.

When Mabus reached into his bag of tricks and came up with a state lottery as a funding source for the education package it was a shrewd piece of politics.

Mabus, who regularly does polling to find out what the people are thinking, obviously learned from the polls what has long been suspected, that a solid majority of Mississippians would vote for a state lottery.

Ironically, Mabus did not tell us back when he was running for governor in 1987 that he favored legalizing a lottery. As I recall, he dismissed a lottery then as a negligible possible source of revenue.

Now Mabus says that if his education reforms are plugged into a lottery, it would produce $55 million in revenue the first year and $60 to $65 million the next two years to pay for a third of the cost of the three-year education program.

Those are bigger bucks than most people around the Legislature, even many who favor a lottery, believe that a rural state like Mississippi could realistically expect to make off a lottery.

Earlier this year, the Legislature's PEER committee, using Iowa as a comparable state, projected that a lottery in Mississippi would have a per capita yield of $30 million and after the payout for jackpots and other operating expenses, the net would be around $23 million.

A number of legislative leaders, including House Speaker Tim Ford and Sen. Jack Gordon of Okolona, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, believe a lottery is too volatile a source of revenue to be used as a cornerstone for funding an education program.

But Sen. Bob Montgomery of Canton, who chairs the revenue-raising Senate Finance Committee, says that $55 to $60 million from a lottery is a "realistic figure," particularly as long as the surrounding states of Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas and Tennessee don't have a lottery.

While a lottery—requiring a two-thirds vote—has fallen at least nine votes short in the Senate in the past, it has never before had the kind of impetus behind it that is expected to come from school teachers, and the junior and senior colleges, all of whom have a big stake in the Mabus program.

"One senator told me he had 11 calls against the lottery," Montgomery said. "I told him to wait before he committed himself because he would have 500 calls from school teachers and the colleges for it."

Sen. Irb Benjamin of Rienzi, the Senate Education Chairman, who will floor-manage the education reform bill, is personally opposed to the lottery, but he admits tying it to the education package "is going to make it tough for some people to vote against it."

Mabus says the Legislature can take the other $320 million of the money needed for his education reforms out of the state general fund growth in the next three years. That poses a two-way dilemma for the Legislature.

First, many lawmakers fear, Mabus' estimate of economic growth could very well wind up to be overblown.

Second, lawmakers would be committing themselves to putting two-thirds of all new money into the new education program, while other programs such as Medicaid, prisons and state employees' salary raises will be staring them in the face in need of more money.

There were such terms as "Alice in Wonderland," "pie-in-the-sky" and "smoke and mirrors" being used by legislators to describe the Mabus funding plan.

But there may not be any place to hide.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator
Thad Cochran

Final passage of NASA rocket funds for state site

Senator Thad Cochran hailed final approval of a bill providing over $240 million for NASA rocket engine development and testing programs in Mississippi.

The Senate on Friday passed, 84 to 6, the FY 1990 appropriations bill containing the funding for construction, development and testing of the NASA advanced solid rocket motor project at Yellow Creek near Iuka in Northeast Mississippi and at the Hancock County Facilities on the Gulf Coast.

"This is a big economic boon to the entire state," Cochran said in a news conference following Senate floor action which sends the bill to the President's desk.

"I am very pleased, very happy to see that work accomplished," he said of final approval of the House-Senate conference report for the Veterans Administration, HUD and independent agencies such as NASA.

He pointed out the measure provides over $240 million for construction and development, including plant tooling, at the Yellow Creek site, and for new construction related to testing of the rocket engines at NASA's Hancock County facilities.

"This is a very big appropriation in a time of very tight budget constraints," Cochran commented. "This is very good news for the state of Mississippi."

Cochran is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Average election costs county about $10,000

With two special elections within weeks of each other, Hancock Countians may wonder how much money is being spent.

Betsy Nolan, secretary of the Hancock County Election Commission, explained that the average election operated by the commission costs roughly $10,000.

The Nov. 7 election is expected to cost slightly less than average, probably between $7,000 and $7,500, Commission President Jimmy Ladner added.

According to Nolan, the commission handles special elections, general elections and any run-offs that result when no single candidate receives 50 percent of the total votes cast, plus one vote.

Primaries are operated by the local Democratic and Republican executive committees, which have the option of staging a primary for a special election. However, those organizations seldom choose to exercise that option, particularly when there is only a short time available for election preparations.

Breaking down the cost, Nolan explained that some of the money is spent to rent precinct locations. Rent varies. A number of precincts do not create rent expenses because they are located in public buildings, such as schools, where utility costs are already being picked up by the county.

Ballots cost about five cents each and the holes on the cards must be calibrated to the voting machines, which the county already owns but which would cost about $250 each if purchased new, Nolan added.

Ballot pages, which include the names of the candidates and any constitutional amendments or referendums attached to a particular election, cost about $80 per page when printed in the quantity needed for all of the county's 26 voting precincts. The average election ballot includes three pages to go into each machine.

Announcements of an election printed in newspapers average about $150.

One of the least expensive items is the signature books, which cost about $1.80 each. Nolan said two books are used in each precinct.

A minimum of three pollworkers is required at each precinct, with five assigned to some of the larger precincts. Pollworkers are paid $50 per day. Ladner said pollworker training, which under changes in the law is now conducted once each year instead of prior to every election, costs approximately $500.

People who transport equipment to the precincts are paid $10, with another $10 being paid to those who bring the boxes, machines, books and other items back to the courthouse.

Nolan added that commissioners are paid $50 per day for preparations that include such tasks as loading the ballots into machines, distributing boxes, working on election day and certifying the vote totals.

In addition, up to three extra assistants may be hired to help with preparations at $50 each.

State law determines the number of days a commissioner can charge to the county, which is determined by the specific county's size, Ladner explained.

For Hancock County, up to 15 days per election are provided for in Section 23-15-153 of the Mississippi Code, but all of that time is never used. Ladner said it actually averages to about five days per commissioner.

Also, up to 15 days are allowed for purging the voter rolls (removing the names of people who have died, registered elsewhere or been disqualified for some reason) before any particular election. Again, the full number of days provided is not needed in Hancock County.

The same law states that the money used to pay the commissioner comes from the county's general fund.

There are a small amount of additional expenses for office supplies and other incidental items which may be purchased for use in election preparations.

Other expenses are tied not to the commission, but to the circuit clerk's office. These include postal costs for the mailing of absentee ballots, about $1.69 each for postage and material; and about $50 in utilities and pay for the employee who keeps the office open for absentee ballots on Saturdays prior to the election.

In some counties, the circuit clerk's office may charge $50 per day for purging, but Ladner said that is not done in this county. The law also provides for $1,000 to be paid to the clerk's office for election expenses.

Randolph announces state senate candidacy

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, a Diamondhead resident, has announced his candidacy for the District 46 Senate seat vacated by Gene Taylor's election to Congress.

"There are two things I have always aspired to accomplish," Randolph, a Democrat, said. "One was to be the superintendent of Hancock County schools and the other is to be a state legislator."

"Circumstances have now made it possible for me to fulfill a lifelong dream."

Although taking the Senate seat would mean a personal financial sacrifice, he said, "I need to make a living, but salary is not as much a concern to me as being ultimately satisfied in meeting my goals in life."

He believes his experience will be an asset in the legislature, particularly in the areas of education and other social issues.

"Education is now on the front burner. We need to keep the fire going. Challenges face this state in education, along with issues such as environmental control, economic development, protection of our senior citizens, our seafood industry and promoting tourism in the state, especially on our beautiful Gulf Coast," the candidate added.

"I believe Governor Mabus' educational reform package is excellent, but the financing cannot and will not come from any support to increase local taxes. There must be an alternate source new revenue."

Randolph, 52, is serving his fourth term as superintendent. He said he loves the job but thinks he can be of greater service in the legislature.

"I think most of the people in the district know me," he said. "They know that I will stand up and fight for the wants and needs of the people. I think they have seen me in action and know that I always win because of my persistent, stormy drive and hard work."

"Sixteenth section land reform, school bond issues and the new school site location were just a few of the tough issues that have made my job so challenging. I'm not afraid to tackle the tough ones."

"The $9.25 million Hancock High School (1,800 students expected) is scheduled for completion in August of 1990. It will be high-tech and one of the finest in the state. This will remove the school district from accreditation deficiencies."

"We have drastically improved our curriculum, are well above average in teacher pay scales and have one of the best computer programs in the state or in the country."

His school system, Randolph said, was the first in the state to initiate 16th section land reform and he helped State Land Commissioner Ed Ainsworth draft the reform act passed in 1978.

"The district was the first in the state, along with the Jackson County School District, to challenge and negotiate 16th section land leases for a fair return. The Jackson County School District employed me to manage their 16th section land between my terms of office in the Hancock schools. I renegotiated all of their leases for fair value before returning to Hancock County as superintendent."

"When I first took office, we were making $400 total per year on 16th section leases. The total this year will be about $70,000."

"I helped John Ed Ainsworth, then the state land commissioner, to draft the 1978 Sixteenth Section Reform Bill that resulted in dramatic increases in revenues in the school district."

A Hancock County native and Bay High School graduate, Randolph earned his bachelor's degree from University of Southern Mississippi and his master's from Mississippi College. He will complete his residency for his doctorate degree in December of this year and will complete my dissertations

Thriffiley joins senate race

James C. Thriffiley III has entered the race for the District 46 Senate seat.

The St. Stanislaus teacher, serving his fourth term as a Democratic Bay St. Louis city councilman, he is an independent insurance agent and a member and immediate past chairman of the Pearl River Community College Board of Trustees.

JAMES THRIFFILEY III

He holds a bachelor's degree from Southeastern Louisiana University; a master's degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. He has done advanced graduate work at the University of Louisiana State University.

Thriffiley wishes to see the state retirement system.

At present all persons who contribute to the state retirement program are given a very small return on their contribution. This is not fair. I will work to insure that all employees are given fair return on their money," he said.

"I also want to make the money in the system made available to all workers in the plan to further their education and that of their immediate family members at reasonable interest rates," Thriffiley said.

He also would have all contributors to the state retirement system belong to the same group insurance group, provide better health insurance and saving tax money.

"The environment must be protected from careless reports put out by put out by groups who do not tell the complete story. I will fight to insure that our future and that of our children is secure from poisons that many bureaucrats want to let seep into our clean air, earth and water," he said.

Thriffiley said he would like to give professional educators a voice in government by revoking laws that forbid public school teachers from holding office in the state legislature.

He also said he will support compensation for victims of rape, assault and physical abuse to be paid for by a $5 per month stipend to be collected from state parolees. With federal matching funds $800,000 could be generated to be used to help deserving victims get their lives back together.

Thriffiley lower property taxes by seeing that all property owners pay their fair share.

"Half of the homeowners are paying extremely high taxes for other persons who pay no taxes what so ever...businesses are being overburdened with property taxes along with the paying homeowners," he said.

Also, if the legislature wants to grant tax exemptions it should also provide a means for cities and counties to be reimbursed for the loss of revenue, Thriffiley said.

The state government has not adequately promoted the agriculture, aquaculture, fishing and shipbuilding industries, according to Thriffiley.

"I will see to it that these industries are given financial encouragement so they grow and prosper, ultimately improving the quality of life for all of us," he said.

"I have served the public as an elected official for over 12 years, which is more experience in public office than any of my opponents."

"In traveling along the Coast and (throughout) this state, I have communicated with the people. I know that the public wants government to be fair to all. I plan to help change the inadvertent unfairness of certain state laws and practices."

"I feel that many of my campaign issues have been on the minds of many citizens for a long time. It is time that we make them an issue to help bring about the needed changes," the candidate said.

Thriffiley and his wife, the former Jean Ann English, are the parents of three sons. He is a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

"Love comes from prayer, and prayer comes from seclusion." —Isaac of Syria

"It is appointed unto men once to die, and after this the judgement."

(Hebrews 9:27)

"That dreary day is coming to us, that day when we must pass away from the living, that day when our name will be blotted out from the records of men; that day is coming to each and everyone of us when we are going to begin to be forgotten."

All that matters not provided we die in the Lord, providing we die a well prepared and blessed death. Oh God, save us on that day!"

—Father Thomas

OUR TOWN

Lincoln Center's Tony Award-winning production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," starring Spalding Gray, Penelope Ann Miller and Eric Stoltz, will air on "Great Performances" at 9 p.m., Friday, Nov. 3 on Mississippi ETV.

Recipient of five Tony nominations and winner of the award for best revival, this new mounting of the 1938 Pulitzer Prize-winning play about life in Grover's Corners, New Hampshire, stars Gray in the pivotal role of the Stage Manager, who narrates and plays various characters in the drama. Miller and Stoltz are Emily Webb and George Gibbs, the young couple around whom the work revolves.

As set forth by the playwright, the play is devoid of scenery and props and is played out on the bare stage with the Stage Manager serving as guide. He introduces viewers to the citizens of Grover's Corners and the ordinary events that make up their lives—youth, love, marriage, death.

October recognized as 'Crime Prevention Month'

Capt. James Luke, president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Crime Prevention Association, met recently with Commissioner Louisa Dixon of the Mississippi Department of Public Safety and Governor Ray Mabus to proclaim October as "National Crime Prevention Month."

National Crime Prevention Month was established by the National Crime Prevention Coalition to encourage citizens' involvement in preventing crime in America.

Mabus presented a proclamation to Luke asking all citizens in Mississippi to commemorate Crime Prevention Month appropriately and to actively participate in crime prevention efforts.

Luke, a resident of Picayune, is captain of the MCI Security Department at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant. As president of the MGCCP Association, he has worked diligently to increase crime prevention awareness and increase the membership of the MGCCP Association.

The association's goals encompass the areas of education, legislation, research, communication, networking, membership, and fundraising. Community activities designed to prevent crime include services such as conducting crime awareness seminars and establishing neighborhood watch programs.

BACK TO NATURE

Many profiles of 'birdwatchers'—as diverse as the subjects they seek

Special to the Echo
By LYDIA SCHULTZ
Today finds me looking back with a smile. I see how far "birding" has come. It is the fastest growing and number one hobby in America. But, 4 1/2 years ago when I opened by bird shoppe, that was a hidden statistic. In fact, I didn't even know that until six months into my new career.

The days leading up to the ribbon cutting found snickers

When they all get together, their credentials of their professions are lost in the glory of the quest for the bird.

Some are fanatical, bordering on comparison to alcoholism. One of my friends swears that her birdwatching is akin to being an alcoholic. She has left her family with guests in the middle of a meal to go after a rarity. She has gone birding when she couldn't walk (you can bird from the car). She's gone and sneers greeting my announcement of my plans. Let's face it—binoculars around one's neck has always brought jeers. What is it?

It is the stereotype of the quiet, bifocled doctor in bermudas with his field guide and binoculars? He was always the butt of jokes and somehow that carried through for generations.

Gloriously, that is coming to an end. Bird watchers are coming out of the closets all over the country. They are doctors, pharmacists, presidents, contractors, housewives, teachers, scientists and you name it.

with fever. She has driven through the nights, days, rain, snow, hale and more for the quest of a rare bird.

It's hard for some of us to understand this sort of behavior but I do. It's kind of like collecting antiques or dolls. In essence, they are collecting a list of birds they have seen, with the fond memories of doing it.

One of my birding friends said that it had gotten so bad that when her friends called the house, her teenagers would say, "Mother's not here, she's migrated."

The humor does not escape us. A group of people standing on the edge of trees, "pishing" for birds, playing a screech owl tape, is humorous. Pishing is a sound made to bring curious birds closer. Its sound is as funny as the word.

But, each of us can tell you the month, day and year that we saw an exciting bird. One occurred for me, October 5, 1987. A Painted Redstart found its way from Arizona to Mississippi, and I was one of five people to see it. Those are the things birders collect. The name of the bird. But most of all, the memory. The awe that this bird is right before my eyes, rare. Yet in Arizona, common.

This past weekend, I can say that the Mississippi Gulf Coast was "birded well," from the waters, Jackson County to Hancock County.

Birders from Hattiesburg scoured all of the hotspots that our "Birding Guru" Judy Touns has pegged so well.

Then Mal Hodges gathered 19 enthusiasts who braved the swells of the Gulf to look for those wonderful pelagic birds that rarely, if ever, make it ashore. (I must admit, my sea legs let me down and I didn't fair well in those swells.)

Time well spent? Wasted? It's a matter of opinion. It depends on what one considers worthwhile. And somehow, the older I get, the more important trees and wildlife become to me. For as they go, so do we. If they fair well, so do we. If we protect them, our life is enriched.

New twist on cheesecake features hazelnut liquor

Gold Medal Flour and Woman's Day magazine have announced the winners of the "Be A Weekend Chef" Recipe Contest. More than 3,000 weekend chefs from across the United States and Canada submitted their favorite appetizer, main dish, bread and dessert recipes.

Grand-prize winners of a seven-day trip for four supplied by Ask Mr. Foster Travel to the tropical resort of Cancun, Mexico and $1,000 spending money are Julie Winter, Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan; No-boil Cinnamon Raisin Bagels; Sharon Weimer, Aberdeen, N.J.; Party Empanadas; and Sandra Bisessur, Nanaimo, British Columbia, Canada, Hazelnut Frangelico® Cheesecake.

Bisessur is a typical weekend chef. A busy wife and mom, Bisessur also works part time as a midwife in Nanaimo, British Columbia, Canada.

"Because I work, it's hard to juggle everything during the week," says Bisessur. "I usually experiment with recipes when I have company, which is usually on the weekends."

That's how Bisessur created her "Weekend Chef" recipe. On a recent Saturday afternoon, while preparing an amaretto cheesecake for guests that evening, she discovered she was out of amaretto. So she was forced to experiment with other ingredients from her pantry.

"I really like Frangelico and fortunately had hazelnuts left from a cookie recipe," recalls Bisessur. "I thought it might work but also made an apple pie just in case the cheesecake was a failure."

This innovative cheesecake won raves from her guests as well as the judges of the Gold Medal Flour/Woman's Day "Be A Weekend Chef" recipe contest.

In addition to the grand-prize winners, 18 first-prize winners received a weekend getaway trip for two to a Radisson Hotel International resort and $100 spending money. Thirty second-prize winners were awarded a copy of "The Weekend Chef" recipe booklet. Following is a list of the winners.

For "The Weekend Chef" recipe booklet send $1 (to cover postage and handling) to: The Weekend Chef, P.O. Box 5175, Minneapolis, MN 55460. (Booklet offer expires May, 1990.)

SANDRA BISSESSUR'S HAZELNUT FRANGELICO® CHEESECAKE

Crust:
1 cup Gold Medal all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons chopped toasted hazelnuts (see note)
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
2 tablespoons milk

Filling:
2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, at room temperature
1/2 cup sour cream
3 large eggs
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup chopped toasted hazelnuts
2 tablespoons Frangelico (hazelnut liqueur)
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice

Topping:
1 cup sour cream
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon Frangelico
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice

Garnish:
Whole hazelnuts

Have a 9-inch springform pan ready. To make crust, mix flour, nuts, sugar, baking powder and salt in a large bowl. Cut in butter with pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle with milk and stir until mixture clumps together to form a dough.

Form into a ball, flatten, then press evenly over bottom and 2 inches up sides of the springform pan. Refrigerate at least 30 minutes.

To make filling, heat oven to 350° F. Beat cream cheese in a large bowl with electric mixer on medium speed until smooth and creamy. Add remaining filling ingredients and beat until thoroughly blended. Pour into pastry lined pan. Bake 50 minutes until firm to the touch. Remove from oven and leave at room temperature 5 minutes.

Mix topping ingredients in a small bowl. Spread evenly over cheesecake. Return to oven and bake 5 minutes. Cool on rack 20 minutes, then refrigerate until cold before removing sides of pan. Garnish with hazelnuts. Makes 12 servings.

NOTE: To toast hazelnuts, spread nuts in shallow baking pan. Bake in 350° oven 8 to 10 minutes until skins start to brown. Turn out onto clean kitchen towel. Wrap and let stand one minute. Rub off most of skins. Cool before chopping.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

I'm a cheese lover from way back when, especially cheese with a little different zing or zest to it, and for this reason am subject to much teasing from family and friends over my habit of adding all sorts of edibles to cheese dishes or spreads to make them more interesting.

One of my favorites is pimiento cheese—homemade pimiento cheese, which makes use of an old-fashioned cooked dressing for its extra flavor. It's excellent as a dip, a sandwich spread, a filling for hard-boiled eggs or celery stalks, or just devoured greedily from a spoon, as I often do while I'm mixing this up. After all, the cook has to taste to be sure that all is in order, right?

I grant you that there are excellent, labor-saving pimiento cheese and other spreads and such available commercially, but once in a while try this:

OLE TIME

PIMIENTO CHEESE
2 lbs. sharp or mild cheddar cheese
1 medium onion, chopped
1 jar or can pimientos, chopped
2 eggs

1 cup sugar
1 cup vinegar

First, grind together or grate finely the cheese, chopped onion and pimientos and set aside, to be added to the cooked dressing.

For the dressing: Beat the eggs well (or, if you've made a cake or cookies or other dish using just egg whites, you may use the leftover yolks in this). Add the cup of sugar, beating well into the eggs, then add the cup of vinegar and cook over low, slow, heat, stirring the while. Do not let it reach a boil, whatever you do.

Taste as it cooks, and, if not sweet enough or not sharp and tangy enough, add a bit more of either one, and after cooling, stir in the cheese mixture.

If you want to take a shortcut, grate the cheese, then add finely chopped pimientos and onion and mix well with your own homemade mayonnaise or with a good mayonnaise from the store.

Sometimes I add chopped pickles, at other times chopped jalapeno peppers, for variety. (Copyright © 1989, Katharine D. M. Care)

Note: In last week's pecan pumpkin pie recipe, a line was dropped—calling for a cup of sugar, in addition to the corn syrup.

PUMPKIN PECAN PIE

1 cup mashed, cooked pumpkin
3 eggs
1 cup corn syrup (I prefer the dark)

1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Dash of salt (1/4 tsp.) optional
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup chopped pecans
9-inch unbaked pie shell (your own, or from the store)
Whipped cream, optional but so good.

First of all, beat the eggs slightly in your mixing bowl, and add the pumpkin, sugar, corn syrup, vanilla, cinnamon and salt, mixing well together.

Pour the mixture into the pie shell, and sprinkle the pecans over the top. Bake for 40 minutes, perhaps a bit longer, in a preheated 350-degree oven. (Test by inserting a knife halfway between the center and edge of the pie. If the knife comes out clean, the pie is ready.) Chill. Serve with whipped cream atop.

Pears are excellent choice

Pears are like people—they come in assorted sizes, shapes and flavor personalities. Thanks to the difference in harvest dates of several varieties of pears, we can enjoy their luscious goodness from now through the winter months.

Fresh Bartlett pears are coming to market in plentiful supply. The Bartlett is the large, bell-shaped pear with a smooth yellow skin, often tinged with a rosy red blush. The flesh is white, fine grained and juicy.

russeted skin. If you overlook the fruit with slight blemishes, you may be passing over the choicest of the bunch!

Most grocery stores sell pears by the pound. The following is a guide you may find helpful in determining how much to buy:

1 pound = 3 to 4 medium pears
1 pound, sliced or diced = about 2 cups, 3 to 4 servings
2 to 2 1/2 pounds = 1 quart canned

1 bushel (approx. 50 lbs.) = 20 to 25 quarts canned
Sort pears when you bring them home. Ripe ones go right into the refrigerator while the green ones need room-temperatures (or a little cooler) to ripen. You may leave them in a paper bag or container if you wish. Then check ripening pears daily as they usually ripen at different rates.

When they give slightly to pressure, they're ready for the refrigerator or to use. If you are buying pears that you don't plan to use for awhile, you may wish to put them into the refrigerator while still green, and then ripen them later.

You may bake, broil, glaze or fry—pears are delicious served in all of these ways. Baked or broiled pears make a scrumptious, easy dish to prepare for your family. Fry pears for a luscious treat. Or serve glazed pears to add elegance to the meal. Experiment.

Pears have long been a favorite fruit for many salads and desserts as well as eating out-of-hand, and can become a favorite in many other ways. Try substituting them in recipes calling for another fruit.

Pears, long accepted for canning, never have been popular for freezing; however, baked pears freeze quite well. Use your recipe for baking pears, but undercook the fruit slightly. Bake the pears only until they are almost tender. Remove them from the oven. Cook quickly.

Pack in moisture-vapor proof rigid containers. Seal and freeze. When you are ready to use them, slip the pears back into the oven, and heat until tender.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1989-1B

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

Today's Time Out seems to be dominated by announcements of runs, ranging from 5K to one mile.

Some of the people who participate in these races will run at the drop of an athletic shoe. The ones I've met to have expressed various reasons, ranging from the health benefits and the fact that running events are something the whole family can attend to the psychological charge they get out of challenging their own "personal best" each time they race.

My dad and my two brothers run. When I asked Dad why he took up the sport, I got an answer I had completely overlooked.

Dad said he runs because he likes collecting the T-shirts. The shirts are included in the entry fee for each event and each race has its own design. A lot of them also have a logo for the running club hosting the event.

He's been running a couple of years now. I wonder what my mom is doing for closet space.

Runners have a chance to compete in two events on the coast this weekend—if they're up to a 5K and a 10K within two days.

On Saturday, the third annual Toys for Tots run will begin at 8 a.m. at the Naval Construction Battalion Center gymnasium in Gulfport. Entry fees on race day are $10 for the 5K and $5 for children 12 and under who want to compete in the accompanying one-mile event.

Linda Sullivan at 832-6071 or Cpl. Lohman at 865-2248 can provide more information.

The Sunday event is the inaugural Ocean Springs 10K Road Race, which begins at 9 a.m. at Government Street and Washington Avenue in Ocean Springs. The Ocean Springs Rotary Club is sponsoring the 10K and an accompanying two-mile event, with Gulf Coast Running Club hosting. The race-day fees are also $10 and $5, but advance registration is possible.

Contact Linda Sullivan, call Ray Hudachek at 875-7370 or call 435-6089 for more information.

Commencing on Nov. 18, the 1989 Mayor's 5K Club Run will be held on the grounds of the St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, 1000 N. Lamer Street, on Lamer Street, with a one-mile run starting at city hall after the 5K. Race-day registration is $9, but members may pre-register for $3 and non-members for $8 by postmarking their forms before Nov. 12. Sherry Bell at 832-6071 or Sullivan can supply details.

Those Gulf Coast Running Club members certainly don't run out of things to do on weekends, do they?

We have some results from a Volvo Ladies tournament featuring Bayou Bluff and Diamondhead teams last week. In singles, Pat Minear of Diamondhead defeated Carol Murray 6-1, 6-3.

Diamondhead did not fare as well in the doubles competition; teams included Donna James and Johnnie Redditt, Alice Burkhardt and Jinky Underwood and Peggy Carter and Dootsie Murphy.

This week's Cycles Plus Bicycle Club event is an off-road ride with the mileage to be covered left open. Riders should meet at Riceville Road and Highway 53 Sunday for an 8 a.m. start and should bring water and food.

New riders: watch out for the sand pit!

Someone I have been writing about in The Sea Coast Echo for a long time now, swimmer Lonnie Ray, has started a new season with his team at Delta State University. Ray, a sophomore, is primarily a sprinter.

The swimmer deserves a special mention for the time he devoted to the Diamondhead Swim Team last summer, and I know the children he coached hope he returns next year.

I am still looking for information on active professional athletes who started their careers in Hancock County. Anyone with information on this topic who would like to contribute to the article I'm planning to write can mail the athlete's name, sport, team, high school and college, and a brief background information to me at P.O. Box 2000, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Be sure to include your name and daytime telephone number because I'll need to call you back.

Also, any short items for Time Out should be sent or dropped off at The Sea Coast Echo by Wednesday afternoon or can be submitted by telephone at 467-5577.

Tigers look to salvage season against Pass

BY D.C. HARVILL

Going into their final game Friday evening, at Pass Christian, the Bay High Tigers are optimistic they can salvage their winless record.

While acknowledging that the Pass Pirates are good, Bay High Coach Dodd Lee thinks his team is up to the task.

"It's going to be a tough one. Pass Christian is doing a good job. I think they are one of the best teams on the coast," Lee said.

Pass Christian defeated Van-cleave last week 32-12. Van-cleave previously had bested the Tigers 30-0.

Citing their game against Hancock North Central last Friday, the coach said, his team has gained much of the experience it had been lacking and, with the cooler weather, his players do not tire as quickly.

The Tigers scored 10 points against the highly rated Hancock while holding them to only 20 points.

The coach expects the Pirates to present a lot of defensive fronts and to throw the ball a lot.

"We aren't going to change our strategy. Everything we do is proven. The kids were talking the other day, saying they wished we could start the season all over with the experience they have now," Lee said.

"We hope the kids get one, they really deserve it. They've really been hustling," the coach said.

Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. at Pirate's Stadium in Pass Christian.

Jr. Rocks fall to Long Beach

The St. Stanislaus eighth grade Rock-A-Chaws closed out their 1989 season Monday falling to the Long Beach Bearcats 28-6 at Bay St. Louis.

"We didn't play as aggressively as we usually do and that made the difference," commented Rock seventh and eighth grade football coach Chuck Genin. "Long Beach has a fine team," he continued. "They make few mistakes, and that's why they are undefeated."

For the Rocks, Brandon Benoit took the first play from scrimmage running 48 yards, but the junior Rocks couldn't capitalize on the break for the score. Later, the SSC eighth graders scored on a 1-yard run for their 6 points.

The Rocks gave up two big touchdown catches to the Bearcats on third and long.

Hancock to face challenge from 5-A Harrison Central

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock North Central Hawks travel Friday to Harrison Central to play the Red Rebels, a team they haven't faced in several years.

Hawk Head Coach Irvin Favre remembers coaching against the Red Rebels twice during his career at Hancock North Central and remembers losing both games. Historically, he said the teams have met about 10 times with Hancock losing eight.

He's looking toward another major challenge Friday despite Hancock's status as District VIII 4-A champions—Harrison Central is this season's 5-A champ in the same district.

"They're a far bigger football team size-wise than we are and a far bigger school. Sometimes, when you take a step up, it's a real big difference," Favre said. "They have a lot more to pick from than we do, a lot more depth."

Hancock North Central will dress out about 45 players, with most of the starters seeing action on both offense and defense. Harrison Central has about 65, and none of them go both ways.

"I'd have to put us going into this game as the underdog," said Favre, adding that Hancock is basically out-sized as well as outnumbered.

"They average 233 across the line, while we're pushing to get 200. They have the two best linebackers I've seen in a while. Their names are Scott and Smith, they weigh 236 and 200, and both of them can run and are mean as a yard dog."

"They have an outstanding defensive football team. They're not as strong offensively, but no doubt about it, we're going to have our hands full."

"We've got a big battle on our hands."

"Of all teams we've played this year, this will be the most physical football team."

ATHLETIC CLUB OFFICERS—Our Lady Academy's Crescent Athletic Club has elected officers for the 1989-90 school year. They are, from left, Laura Haas, president; Catherine Ohman, secretary; Kaaren Kolodziej, treasurer; and Stacy O'Brien, vice-president. The CAC will sponsor an all-school intramural night in November, and all classes will choose names, themes and dress for the annual spirit competition.

Favre added that Harrison Central's 4-5 record is not impressive, but they play big teams every week.

"We've got a challenge. I told our football team that to me, this is a challenge to see if we can rise up and play against a big, strong football team and one that is known to be a strong football team."

The coach added that he had little choice about scheduling Harrison Central.

"For years, everybody wanted to play us because we were an easy win. They usually played us for homecoming. But, during the last few years, we've kind of gotten like d'Iberville. Nobody wanted to play d'Iberville and now nobody wants to play us."

He explained that a team must play at least five home games from a financial standpoint and is required to play the other 4-A teams in the district. The rest of the games can be scheduled by mutual agreement of the two schools.

Other teams, usually the 3-A opponents like Pass Christian and Pearl River, La., dropped out of the Hawks' schedule this year.

"I ran up a great big phone bill. I couldn't find anybody to fill our eighth playing date but Wayne County and couldn't find anybody but Harrison Central to fill our 10th date," Favre said.

Wayne County, a newly consolidated school, handed the Hawks their first defeat this season. Hancock will defend an otherwise unblemished record Friday, then will face Laurel in a Nov. 10 play-off at home.

To get to the Harrison Central field, go up Highway 49 north in Gulfport from either US-90 or Interstate-10 (The I-10 exit sign says Hattiesburg). A sign pointing the way is posted on the right side of 49 about 10 miles north of I-10.

Rocks win could mean bowl bid

BY TOM ACKERMAN

After seeing their hopes for a post-season berth in the state playoffs fade, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws must now strive for a winning season as they face St. Paul of Covington, La., tomorrow night at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

After sporting a 4-0 record at the beginning of the season, the Rocks are now 5-4, and the final game will determine not only whether or not SSC's record tips to the plus side, but also the possibility of a post-season bowl bid.

According to head football coach Ken Lyons, the possibility of a bowl slot exists if the Rocks win Friday. "We're hopeful with a win we could receive a bowl invitation," Lyons said. "Our kids have shown an interest in playing a bowl game. We do still have a good team," he added. "A win would give us a winning season and we would end the season on a positive note."

Looking ahead to St. Paul, Lyons noted the team's strengths. "For one, they beat Salmen when they were headed to the playoffs," he said. Salmen beat the Rocks earlier in the season.

For another, St. Paul has a "fast running back and a very rugged linebacker who could give us trouble."

Another factor that could enter into the picture is the seeming lack of confidence the Rock offense showed against Pearl River Central last week, losing 17-2. "Our confidence is shaken," Lyons said. "We seem to have lost our composure on offense, although our defense handled it well. We've got to put last week behind us and look ahead to this week."

The Rock-A-Chaws face 4-5 St. Paul tomorrow night at SSC stadium. Game time 7:30.

SSC JV shuts out PRC

BY TOM ACKERMAN

Avenging a loss to the Pearl River Blue Devils' varsity squad last Friday, the St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity shut out the visiting J.V. Devils Monday 30-0 at Rock-A-Chaw Stadium.

The win gave the Rock JV's a 2-2 record on the season.

"We played extremely well on both sides of the ball," noted Rock Junior Varsity coach Andy Kivlan after the game. "The offensive line (Sam Simpson, Brett Heitzmann, Mike Thomas, Mark Cina and Mark Sherwin) provided time to pass (for quarterback Bill Dreher) and gaping holes to run through. We couldn't have asked for a better performance," he added.

Scoring for the Rocks came on a 70 yard Dreher pass to receiver Mickey Quinlan to put SSC on the board 6-0.

Another pass from Dreher to Andrew Lazarra for the two-point conversion put the Rocks ahead 8-0.

Quinlan scored again on a 15-yard run upping the score to 14-0, and Dreher connected with Quinlan for a pass to give the Rocks two more on the point after, 16-0.

Continuing the momentum for the Rock-A-Chaws, Mike Lee dashed 60 yards for another TD, and a Dreher pass to Brian Necaise for two gave SSC a 24-0 lead.

Final scoring for the Rocks came on a 40-yard run by Lee to give SSC the 30-0 win.

Needless to say, the Rock-A-Chaw defense was key in the win, holding the Blue Devils scoreless. "The defense would bend but always bounced back," Kivlan noted. Key defensive plays were logged by Rocks Robbie Bergeron, Michael Davidge, Greg Altese, Mark Sherwin, Tate Thriffley, Mickey Quinlan and Bubba O'Brien.

The win closed out the Junior Varsity Rocks' season.

PRC to wrap up '89 season

Pearl River College will finish up its 1989 season against the Coahoma Tigers Thursday in the Dobie Holden Stadium. No playoff hopes remain for the Wildcats, however, a break-even season is a real possibility. After losing to the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves 22-13 Saturday, the Wildcats must now beat the winless Tigers to go 5-5 in 1989. Naturally, it's not the season the Wildcats were hoping for, but a win Thursday would not be a bad finish after a 1-3 start. Pearl River opened with a dramatic fourth quarter win over the Itawamba Indians and then dropped consecutive decisions to Hinds, Mississippi Delta and Jones.

The Mike Nelson led Wildcats turned things around against rival Gulf Coast before losing a close encounter to Northeast. The Cats bounced back with wins against East Central and Southwest but failed to knock off the top-rated Co-Lin Wolves.

"Co-Lin has an outstanding football team," said Nelson. "Their defense is even better than I expected." Nelson said he was pleased with his defense, especially after the first drive.

"I thought we kept them contained most of the afternoon," said Nelson. "We knew they were very potent. After all they are 8-1 and 6-0 in the division."

Nelson was not pleased with the officiating. "I thought they did a terrible job," said Nelson. "They made calls they could not explain. They hurt us badly."

PRC entered the fourth quarter trailing 22-0 against the Wolves, but super efforts by running back Michael Toefield and receiver Shane Hughes pulled the Cats within seven late in the contest.

In fact, the Wildcats were on the Co-Lin one-yard line when time ran out. PRC had a spectacular 62-yard punt return called back and a chip shot field goal was also missed.

"We really dominated the second half," said Nelson. "We just came up a little short."

Nelson said there is not much to say about the Coahoma Tigers. The Tigers lost 31-22 to the Holmes Bulldogs last week for a 0-9 mark in Poplarville in '89. Their '88 record was 0-9-1.

"We have to worry about getting our players fired up for the game," said Nelson. "They played their hearts out this past week."

Last year the Wildcats defeated the Tigers 33-6 to lead in the series 7-0. "We want to have a 5-5 season," said Nelson. "We also don't want to be the team that Coahoma finally beats."

Nelson said he was very impressed with the play of defensive players Augustus Balls and Will Russell. Hughes and Toefield were cited on offense.

Toefield put together his fifth straight 130-yard plus game while propelling over the 1,000-yard mark in a season. Both stats are school records.

Favre completes 24 in USM 31-7 victory

Following a convincing 31-7 road victory over Memphis State, the University of Southern Mississippi now heads into a lengthy but much-needed break prior to the final two games of the season.

The road victory, the second of the season if you discount the season-opening victory over Florida State which was "technically" a "home" game for the Eagles, moved coach Curley Hallman's troops to within one game of the .500 mark at 4-5 and kept alive a shot at a winning season.

USM now will take two weeks off (actually three weeks without a game) before closing the season with games at Alabama (Nov. 18) and at home against East Carolina (Nov. 25).

Coach Hallman says the time off will be used to give his players a rest, to let a multitude of injuries heal, and, of course, to get ready for a nationally ranked Alabama team that seems to be playing better each time out.

The Eagles also obviously will spend some of that time off savoring a near complete domination of longtime rival Memphis State. The Eagles now lead the series with the Tigers 24-14-1, and now have won five in a row and 14 of the last 16 games between the two teams.

With quarterback Brett Favre getting plenty of time to throw the ball, and Reginald Warnsley and Rickey Bradley combining for over 100 yards on the ground, USM amassed its best yardage total of the season at 503, compared to 314 for the Tigers. Warnsley had 57 yards on 14 carries and Bradley 46 more on 12.

Favre did his share with his best passing day ever, 345 yards on 24 completions in 41 attempts. His previous best was a 303-yard game earlier this season against Texas A&M. His primary accomplice in much of that damage was Eugene Rowell who caught seven Favre passes for 116 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Seven other Golden Eagle receivers caught passes, all but one of them getting two or more.

USM averaged 6.3 yards on 80 total offensive plays, and kept the ball 33:06 compared to 26:54 for the Tigers. The USM defense also played a key role in that success, coming up with a pair of interceptions, four sacks for a total of 23 yards in losses, and generally making life miserable for a duo of Tiger quarterbacks that managed just 133 yards passing.

The 25 first downs against the Tigers was a team best for the current season as were the 18 passing first downs, the 345 passing yards and the 503 total yards. Favre's 24 completions was his best of the season, as was Rowell's seven receptions and his two TD receptions.

Favre also continues to close in on the few USM passing and offense records he doesn't already hold. He needs just 52 more offensive plays to move past Reggie Collier into first place in that category. He also needs 301 yards to surpass Collier in total offensive yardage and he's tied with Collier (at 42) in touchdowns responsible for.

He already is in first place in completions (419), attempts (818), net yardage (5,537), and touchdown passes (41).

In fact, second place in TD passes is 20 and his yardage total is almost 2,000 more than second place.

Let lures find fish for you

Locating bass on many of today's big reservoirs can be difficult and time-consuming, but you can make the task easier by using certain lures that actually help you find fish.

That's one of the primary tricks of the trade used by the tournament professionals, and it can easily be learned by casual, non-professional anglers, as well.

"Fish-finding lures are those that can be fished quickly so you can cover a lot of water in a hurry," explains Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member Ken Cook.

"They are lures that draw impulse, reaction-type strikes, and their main purpose is simply to tell you bass are present in the area you're fishing."

The major fish-finding lures Cook uses include crankbaits, spinnerbaits, swimming plugs, and floating/diving minnow imitation lures known as jerk baits.

"Each of these is basically a cast and retrieve lure," explains Cook, a former fisheries biologist turned bass pro. "If you get one or two strikes in an area you believe has the potential to hold a concentration of bass, you can then slow down and fish the spot more carefully with a jig or plastic worm."

Crankbaits work well in water ranging from six to as deep as 20 feet, says the Evinrude pro, and can be used to explore the bottom. They're usually more effective when they are bumping and ricocheting off obstacles like rocks, logs and stumps.

"Spinnerbaits are probably the favorite fish-finding lure of all time," notes Cook. "I like to fish them around shallow cover like stumps and bushes, and over grass."

Jerk baits are often overlooked as fish-finding lures, according to Cook, because they're considered shallow water lures. They will draw bass up from deeper water, however, and are especially effective in clear water lakes, or over deep grass and standing timber.

"Another reason jerk baits are left in the tackle box," says Cook, "is because they're difficult lures to use. Constant rod movement is needed to give the lure its action. In fact, that's why they're called jerk baits."

The swimming plugs are excellent choices to fish over submerged grassbeds, and in fact, they seem to be most effective when retrieved fast. The retrieve speed can be varied to allow these lures to work different depths, too.

"When you first start looking for fish on a large lake," says Cook, "lures like this can be a big help because they're easy to use and they catch the most active bass."

"All you have to do is pick a likely-looking shoreline, point or cove and start casting."

To keep your boat's steering operating smoothly during the fishing season, apply OMC Triple-Guard@grease to the tilt tube steering ram to prevent the ram from seizing. The ram should also be greased prior to winter storage.

Coast Guard Flotilla 35

The USCG Auxiliary, Division III, held its fourth quarterly meeting on Oct. 13, 14 and 15 at the Best Western Hotel in Gulfport.

Special guests were Capt Huff, newly assigned director of the auxiliary, stationed in New Orleans, and Jim Ellisor, vice-commander of the auxiliary's Eighth District.

During the business meeting on Saturday, an intense training seminar was presented by Commodore Ellisor, attended by approximately 50 members from throughout Division III.

Division captain elections were held for 1990 directed by incumbent Division III Capt. W. J. Castaneda.

Newly elected officers are Mort C. Johnson, Division II captain, and Ed Seward, Division III vice captain. Both newly elected officers are from Auxiliary Flotilla 37 in Ocean Springs.

The three-day session was hosted by Flotillas 35 from Pass Christian and 31 from Long Beach. Social events included an around-the-clock hospitality room, dining and dancing in the decorated ball room, barber shop quartet entertainment by The Tropical Depressions, and a gala Halloween costume contest for those daring to brave the elements.

Budweiser to sponsor sailing trophy

Rex Distributing Co. Inc., the local Anheuser-Busch distributor, has announced plans to become involved in sailing on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Rex Distributing will furnish a Budweiser press boat, to be used by the media at all sailing events and will present among other trophies, a "Budweiser Sailor of the Year" trophy, with the winner selected by a committee from the seven coastal area yacht clubs.

"We feel that Budweiser's sponsorship of sailing will increase the participation and enthusiasm for the sport along the Gulf Coast," said Rex Distributing President Dan Magruder.

"It is our goal for this area to be recognized nationally as one of the best year-round sailing areas in the U.S. We hope that, as a side effect of beautiful sailboats on the water, tourism in our area will also improve."

SECTION C

Reading tastes are varied some admit influence

BY D.C. HARVILL

Because people have varied taste in books and get different things from even the same book, I asked several people two questions: "What book are you currently reading or have read most recently?" and "Does any particular book stand out as having influenced you in any way?"

"I have been reading Fair and Tender Ladies by Lee Smith. It is a narrative about a woman who grows up in the back hills of Tennessee. It is about poverty and how strip mining was supposed to be a salvation. The people in the book got by without money until all these things became available that could only be bought with money," said Suzanne Smith, mother and aspiring writer.

"Books always influence me," she said to the second question. "Every book I've read has influenced me. I keep going back to Joseph Campbell's Hero with a Thousand Faces, however. By reading Campbell, you are studying philosophy, even though it is about mythology. You relate it to your own life and it gives you another perspective," Smith said.

"The book I've read most recently is Rock Springs by Richard Ford. It is a collection of 10 short stories by a critically acclaimed Mississippi writer. The work in the book is considered some of his best.

"Ford's prose has a simple power through realism," Army Ammunition Plant employee Mark S. France said.

"Being a hopeful writer and one who is interested in writing and language, I have been influenced by Russell Hoban's Ridley Walker. The novel is about life after a nuclear holocaust in England and the adventures of an ordinary man who takes on a great task and himself achieves greatness.

"I especially appreciate the way he reinvented the English language. He followed certain linguistic rules that would apply in that situation and which I believe have been demonstrated in language changes in the past," France said.

—Dr. Joan Cleveland, an oceanographer with the Naval Oceanographic and Atmospheric Research Laboratory at Stennis Space Center said she has been reading Dancing at the Rascal Fair by Ivan Doig.

"It is about two Scotsmen who leave Scotland when they are 16 or 18 and emigrate to Montana. It's about homesteading and ranching. It's really a story about the settling of Montana," Cleveland said.

"No single book has changed my life," Cleveland said. "I like books and I like to read. When I was little I used to read in bed with a flashlight. Boy did I get in trouble. They broke me from reading with a flashlight but they didn't break me from reading. My father eventually bought me a nightlight to read by," she said.

According to Kay Wolfe, librarian at the Bay St. Louis branch of the Hancock County Library, "This time of year we check out a lot of non-fiction books because the school children have to do reports. Some of them check out five or six books on the same topic."

When she is not helping others fill their reading needs, Wolfe said she enjoys reading mystery and intrigue, especially by Tom Clancy.

"We don't get to read the best sellers because we have to wait to get on the waiting list," she said.

Susan Daigre of Bookends Bookstore said she is reading Fried Green Tomatoes by Fannie Flagg.

"It's wonderful, it reaffirms my faith in humanity. It is about a woman in a nursing home talkin' to a woman who is going through a midlife crisis. So you get bits about depression and midlife crisis," Daigre said.

Many people are asking for Oldest Living Confederate Widow Tells All by Alan Gurganus.

Bookaholic confesses compulsion to read

BY D.C. HARVILL

My name is D.C. and I am a bookaholic.

I can't pass a bookstore, the sale rack at the library or any other place that sells books without stopping to look at, and, more often than not, buy books. And that even when I can scant afford them.

There are nearly as many kinds of books as there are readers. And there definitely are as many reasons for loving books.

They entertain, stimulate the mind, evoke the full range of human emotions; they educate.

Books have become our collective memory—if it is known to man it invariably finds its way into a book.

Every book, regardless of literary merit or depth of information and insight, contains a slice of the human spirit. I justify my bibliomania—my lust for books—by all of these reasons. I am driven to read by a desire to learn, to know and to experience—the thought that I might find "The Answer" between the covers of a book compels me.

Of course, anyone who has read Douglas Adams' The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy knows the answer is 42. They also know the problem, and primary premise of that book, is finding the question.

That isn't to say the answer lies in just one book—though it may. But if I read enough books—the right combination of books—the answer may be unlocked.

Assuming everything eventually sees print, it isn't unreasonable to think the answer can be found somewhere in their pages.

On a less grand scale, people are always finding answers in books—facts, figures, definitions, recipes, self-help, and escape are but a few examples of what can be found by looking in the right book.

All things considered, being a bookaholic might not be so bad.

IZAAK WALTON (1593-1683)

Original chefs of 1948 Harvest Dinner will repeat roles at Episcopal fundraiser

Special to the Echo

A tradition is always slow in the making, but 40 years should be considered long enough.

People in the Bay-Waveland area have by now developed the custom of having not one, but two, Thanksgiving dinners, the first at Virginia Hall in mid-November and the second with the rest of the country on the national holiday.

It was in 1948 that seven women of Christ Episcopal Church prepared the meal that began the tradition—a fundraising dinner served to 250 people of all faiths who dined under the grape arbor at the North Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Breath Jr.

That meal, priced at two dollars and utilizing china borrowed from Mauffray's Hardware Store, has evolved into an annual event anticipated with pleasure by an overflow crowd at Virginia Hall on the grounds of Christ Episcopal Church, 912 South Beach.

The 1989 Harvest Dinner will take place on Thursday evening, November 9, from five until eight o'clock.

The menu, by now a tradition of its own, will include a choice of turkey or ham, cornbread dressing with gravy, fluffy sweet potato casserole, spinach Florentine, Effie McCulloch's famous cranberry relish, Waldorf salad, hot rolls, and a great variety of pies, cakes, and drinks.

Incredibly, the price of this feast is only five dollars. Take-out plates will be available as usual and can be popped into the freezer for Thanksgiving dinner number two.

Chefs Leontine DeRocha and Mary Breath

The event this year is being chaired by Mrs. Jeff Debenport, assisted by Mrs. Wade Stevens, Mrs. Claude Hogan, Linda McCulloch, and Pat Mayfield. Two of the chefs of the 1948 dinner—Mrs. Leontine DeRocha and Mrs. Charles Breath Jr.—are among the many cooks of 1989.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used for the charitable projects funded annually by the women of Christ Episcopal Church. Though tickets may be purchased at the door, it is helpful to the organizers if they are obtained in advance. These may be purchased from any Episcopal churchwoman, the church office, or Ashman Mollere Realty.

Be a good neighbor!

Without even leaving home you have the power to add to or subtract from the value of your property! At the same time your actions will label you as "A very good neighbor."

Here are some of the things real estate people suggest: Keep your grounds well cared for and free from clutter. Plant trees, shrubs and flowers.

Give your mail box a fresh look with the use of a spray can and just a few minutes of your time. How about going the second mile with the planting of flowers or low shrubs at its base?

Does your place have a neighborhood watch? Just keep a friendly interest. Your neighbors will bless you, and return your courtesy.

No doubt on some mornings you'll find that leaves and twigs have been tossed in your yard. Just pick them up and return them to the cans you set out for your selected "trash."

Do you allow political signs posted on your property? Please be slow to grant permission for this. These signs often stay up for a long time. Some are so situated they block the view and are dangerous. Some are blown about by the wind. Please do these signs help a candidate to get elected?

Many of our streets are tree-lined. They are most attractive. Some times after thunder storms branches from the trees fall. It would be right neighborly if these limbs were pulled out of the line of passing traffic and those in charge of clean-up notified for a quick pick up.

It is rewarding to know that in your neighborhood pet owners are considerate, abide by the rules and do not allow their animals to stray from their own territories. Speed limit laws and leash laws are for the protection of the people.

Good neighbors contribute that added touch. It improves the quality of life immeasurably!

HNC Junior High cheerleaders place in state contest

Hancock North Central Junior High cheerleaders competed in state cheerleading competition at the annual State Fair in Jackson on October 14. They placed sixth in their division. The cheerleaders attended camp at University of Southern Mississippi in July, and won overall camp championships in the junior high division. The sponsors of the cheerleaders are Kim Saucier and Bonita Favre.

Ever notice what your old furnace is doing to your skin?

Dry, cracked, itchy skin isn't just caused by the cold of winter. It can be caused by the extreme heat of your old gas furnace.

Your old dinosaur literally cooks moisture out of the air. In fact, it makes the air so dry, it can parch your throat, clog your nasal passages, cause a shocking amount of static electricity, and make your skin look and feel miserable.

Of course, an electric heat pump provides a comfortable, even temperature in every room of your home. And, because it heats without destroying all that moisture, chances are it won't parch your throat or make your skin dry up.

Call your Total Comfort Pledge™ heating and cooling contractor for more information.

And replace your old dinosaur of a furnace with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

Your skin will be glad you did.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Republican Women

The regular monthly meeting of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 2 in the meeting room of the Mississippi Power Company, corner Hwy. 90 and Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Jerry Medford and Gordon Boh, Republican candidates for state senator, will be present.

The governor has called a special election for Nov. 7 to fill the vacancy created by Gene Taylor's departure to the U.S. Congress.

"With the election only days away, do not miss this opportunity to meet and talk with these candidates. Guests are welcome," said Shirley Jones, publicity chairman.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

The October 18 meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club was held at the Waveland home of Jennie Ortis with 21 members in attendance.

After the introduction of her house guest, Melva Felder, the meeting was opened with a prayer, "Teach Me Lord," author unknown, read by a co-hostess Mayola Rotterham.

President Dot Feaheny presided over a brief business which followed the reading of the minutes of the September meeting by secretary Margaret Heitzmann and the treasurer's report by Cathleen Taconi.

President Feaheny appointed Virginia Thomas to head the nominating committee for the election of new officers during the November meeting. Also appointed to serve on the committee were Betty Klein and Jennie Ortis.

The by-laws on judging plants, hats decoration and arrangements were thoroughly reviewed and explained for the benefit of the newer members by Betty Klein and Beulah Peterson, committee chairladies.

Since October is the month of the club's fall social, there was no plant, flower or arrangement competition among the members.

After a delicious luncheon served by Jennie Ortis and her co-hostesses Alice Bretel, Eunice Foret and Mayola Rotterham, members enjoyed an afternoon of games.

Door prize was won by Dot Neubig, and Phil Lagasse won the 50/50.

Lagarde is St. Tammany Teacher of the Year

Bay St. Louis resident, Roxanne O. Lagarde, has been selected elementary Teacher of the Year in St. Tammany Parish, La., and will represent that area at the state level in National Teacher of the Year competition.

ROXANNE LAGARDE

Lagarde is a fifth grade teacher at Little Oak Elementary School in Slidell, La., specializing in language arts.

At the school level, Lagarde was selected by a vote of her peers; at the district level, her application was reviewed by an independent panel of judges, and was selected to represent the entire parish as the elementary Teacher of the Year, at the upcoming state-level judging.

The Teacher of the Year Program is co-sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers, Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., and Good Housekeeping Magazine.

A graduate of Louisiana State University, Lagarde has been teaching for nine years, and is working towards a master's degree. She taught at Bay St. Louis Junior High, Broadmoor Junior High (Baton Rouge), and Boyet Junior High (Slidell) before taking her present position.

While at Bay Junior High, Lagarde was voted by her peers as Outstanding Teacher of the Year in 1985. From 1980 to 1985, she taught sixth and eighth grade science there.

In 1988, Lagarde received a distinguished recognition award from the Louisiana Drug-Free Communities Conference. Her fifth-graders were the only students in the state invited to participate in this federally-sponsored conference held in New Orleans. The Little Oak students composed original dramatizations of student-oriented drug situations, and presented the positive aspects of a drug-free society.

Also at Little Oak she co-chaired "Project Self-Esteem" and "Coping," two innovative programs in awareness of self-potential, which were presented to all eight fifth-grade classes throughout the year.

For several years, Lagarde has been an active member of PTA, the National Education Association, and the Louisiana Association of Educators.

Lagarde's commitment to the field of education was instilled at an early age. "My parents stressed to their ten children that the key to success was total commitment in one's own educational efforts. The more you gave of yourself, the more you would gain in return from others. I hold tight to this commitment today in my profession."

One of the many distinguishing factors of St. Tammany's Teacher of the Year is the multidisciplinary nature of her teaching style.

Lagarde is and has been active in extra-curricular activities, including: coordinating science fairs, sponsoring honor societies, sponsoring student councils, sponsoring cheerleading camps, and sponsoring the yearbook committee.

She was co-sponsor of an extensive project this past year at Little Oak, entitled, "Set a Good Example -- Don't Do Harmful Drugs." The school placed eighth nationwide out of 4500 entries. The year-long program encompassed language arts, music, drama, poetry and essay, science and social studies.

"Set a Good Example" at Little Oak included: participation in a Mardi Gras parade; poster, poetry and essay contests; production of a positive self-esteem musical, "Feeling Good," which was presented at Little Oak and other area schools; Reach Out and Read program; visiting guest speakers; drug awareness workshops; and a year-end wrap-up evening - a "lock-in."

This lock-in featured community, schoolboard and PTA leaders, parents, and students in a consciousness-raising effort centered on self-dependence, not substance-dependence.

Lagarde and her husband, Jules, have four daughters, Elise, Lauren, Rachel and Elizabeth. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bubba Oustalet of Pass Christian.

October Pepsi students named at St. Stanislaus

Pepsi Students of the Month for October at St. Stanislaus High School are eighth grader Brandon Terry, son of Mrs. Jacqueline Cefalu of Lafayette, La.; seventh grader Patrick Cousins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Cousins of Long Beach; senior Jeff Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Taylor of Pass Christian; sophomore Martin Braud, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Braud of Waveland; junior John Estay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Estay of Grand Isle, La.; and freshman Myron Labat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Labat of Bay St. Louis. The "Student of the Month" is sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company. Students are selected on the basis of performance (grades), effort (including attendance), people skills (sportsmanship, cooperation, service), self-control (discipline, respect, courtesy), and initiative (class participation, involvement, generosity).

Crimestoppers name October officer of month

Deputy Thomas Lamb of the Jackson County Sheriff's Department was selected by Crimestoppers as its 'Officer of the Month' for October.

Officer Lamb is 23 years old and lives with his wife Debbie in Ocean Springs. Mrs. Lamb is also pursuing a law enforcement career. He has attended the Jackson County campus of MS Gulf Coast Community College and is cross-designated as Blue Lightning Strike Force officer.

This year Deputy Lamb was instrumental in the arrest of a homicide suspect. This resulted in a death penalty conviction in Houston, Texas in September, 1989.

NASA's McMurtry, Dewees address science teachers

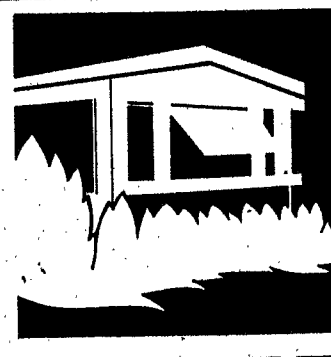

NASA education specialists from the John C. Stennis Space Center in Hancock County participated in the 1989 annual meeting of the Mississippi Science Teachers Association (MSTA) on October 20 in Clinton, Miss.

James McMurtry, an aerospace education specialist, presented a program session on "Voyager/Galileo" for grades K-12.

Dianne Dewees, coordinator of the Teacher Resource Center at Stennis, told Mississippi science teachers about the educational resources available through the Stennis Center. MSTA works throughout the year to improve the quality of science teachers, education programs, and school science facilities in Mississippi schools.

Jitney Jungle is pleased and excited to announce our participation in the new "Apples for the Students" program. In this program, all the students in the communities which we serve can collect your Jitney Jungle "pink" register tapes, then turn them in to us to receive Apple computers, printers, educational software and teacher training — at absolutely NO COST to the school or school district!

Our "Apples for the Students" Program will be in effect over the next 28 weeks, from today through April, 1990. All Jitney Jungle "pink" register tapes submitted within these dates are valid.

We at Jitney Jungle recognize the growing need for computer equipment in all of our schools, and wanted to sponsor a program that would have the maximum benefit to this area's school systems.

This program is unique, because Apple computers are overwhelmingly the choice of school districts for educating students.

It's easy as 1-2-3—

1. Collect Jitney's "pink" register tapes.
2. Donate tapes to the school of your choice.
3. Jitney will ship a FREE computer directly to the school at no cost.
